Public Lecture

WHICH IDEAS WILL DOMINATE THE 21ST CENTURY?

By

Shri. Sundeep Waslekar,

President, Strategic Foresight Group Mumbai.

About the Speaker: Shri. Sundeep Waslekar is an alumnus of the University of Mumbai. He spent early years of his career developing writing skills and participating in international peace work.

In 1991, he founded International Centre for Peace Initiatives, the first conflict resolution institution in South Asia. Under its auspices, he was engaged in track two diplomatic efforts between India and Pakistan, as well as between leaders of various Kashmiri movements and India's national leaders.

Following the September 11 attacks in 2001 and the War on Terror, he facilitated dialogues between Western and Islamic leaders, hosted by the Strategic Foresight Group, in collaboration with the Alliance of Liberals and Democrats in the European Parliament and the League of Arab States. In addition, he held consultations with Heads of Governments, foreign ministers and heads of counter-terrorism units in multilateral organizations. In 2013, he released a report "Water Cooperation for a Secure World", which examines for the first time the relationship between water and peace around the world
