

ENLIGHTEN YOURSELF
EVERY SATURDAY

University of Mumbai

Public Lecture by

P. SAINATH

Rural Affairs Editor, The Hindu
Ramon Magsaysay Award Winner

A Structural Compulsion to Lie:
What Corporatization Does to the Media?

Date: 15th Feb. 2014; Time: 3.00 pm

Venue: Pherozeshah Mehta Bhavan,

University of Mumbai, Vidyanagar Campus,

Santacruz [East], Mumbai-400098.

Born in Chennai. He is the Rural Affairs Editor of the daily newspaper, The Hindu. He started as a journalist for United Nations Organization. In 1993, he received Fellowship from the Times of India.

Sainath's most important work from the past decade focused on the agrarian crisis in India. He has travelled to close to 1 lakh kms across the country and has written a book on his experiences called 'Everybody loves a good Drought'.

He was instrumental in establishing the Agricultural Commission in Andhra Pradesh. His ideas have provoked responses that include revamping of the drought management programs in the state of Tamil Nadu.

Year

2007

2009

2011

Award

Ramon Magsaysay Award

Ramnath Goenka Best Journalist Award

Conferred with D. Litt by University of Alberta